SAMBER

BASED ON A TRUE STORY
SAMBER

The acclaimed new series by Oscar-winning director Jean-Xavier de Lestrade.

A story of decades of collective blindness.

Late 80's in Northern France, women are being sexually assaulted along the same road by the Samber river – with attacks taking place early mornings and in a similar style. The police fail to get to grips with the extent of these assaults or make a connection between the cases. The justice system is overwhelmed by the accumulating cases. It will take 30 years to catch a man, who never stopped attacking women and is responsible for at least 54 cases of rape or sexual assault. Samber is a thriller that recounts the progression of the investigation, and its repercussions from the 80's through to 2018 and the beginning of the #metoo era.

You're being watched.

Unit 42 is a detective series of 52-minute episodes, which carries us through the twists and turns of the Internet and emerging technologies. Modern technology allows criminals to act in the real world, all the while shielded by their computer screens. The police's Digital Unit therefore combines field investigations and virtual expeditions using a unique duo: Sam, a cop newly transferred from the homicide bureau (and not particularly tech-savvy), and Billie, a young, feisty policewoman and IT expert. They will need to collaborate, not without difficulty at first, before being able to learn from each other. For behind each case of cyber criminality, first and foremost, lies a human story to be told.

Adolescence is a tragedy. Yet, thinking about it, it's also a comedy. So, to tell the story of adolescence, why not rely on the greatest playwright of all time?

In this series, Thomas, our Othello, is no longer the brave leader of the Venetian army, but the unflappable leader of a Parkour crew. By his side, we find the good-humoured Michele and the quick-witted Gaia. They all get along well, until they meet Beatrice Virgili, the most beautiful girl in school, who both Thomas and Gaia end up falling for. When an intense romance develops between Beatrice and Thomas, Gaia, struck with envy towards her friend, hatches a meticulous plan to separate the two lovers. Gaia's underhanded persuasion tactics take effect and Thomas' insecurities erupt into a blind jealousy that ends up destroying his love for Beatrice and his friendship with Michele. In a season finale where no one comes out on top, the real tragedy for the protagonists is their awareness of adulthood and their sense of disenchantment whilst also having the opportunity to investigate their own frailties, work through their mistakes or, simply grow up!
